Executive Summary:

This is a comprehensive report conceived and compiled by CPDI. The report gives a review about the status of Right to Information (RTI) in Pakistan. Categorically, two fundamental dimensions of Right to Information are assessed in the report (a) current status of proactive disclosure, (b) reactive disclosure by the government departments under RTI laws. Assessment of all two dimensions is conducted at Federal and four provinces in Pakistan by CPDI. CPDI's report on the status of RTI is going to be an annual feature and a similar report will be released every year.

The results of the report indicate that the status of online proactive disclosure in Federal, Pakhtunkhwah (KP), Sindh and Punjab is moderate. All the respective right to information laws except Balochistan Freedom of Information Act, 2005 present a detailed list of information to be proactively disclosed by the government departments. But, the lack of awareness about the significance of transparency and openness in government affairs pulls the government departments away from proactively disclosing information as mentioned in the RTI laws. Websites of sampled government departments were assessed against the proactive disclosure clauses of RTI laws. In a nut shell, most of the government departments have abstained from disclosing the budget, expenditure, perks and privileges enjoyed by the government officers, performance based annual reports, internal criteria to perform its functions and particulars of public information officers. At the end, an average percentage of each province and federal is presented ahead in the report.

This report also presents a glimpse of status of reactive disclosure by government departments in Federal, KP, Punjab, Sindh and Balochistan. A set of information requests was sent to the sampled set of government departments in each province and centre. The results of reactive disclosure by public bodies are purely based upon the reaction/responses of information requests sent under RTI laws. Not at any stage, complaints were lodged in appellate forums during the process. Out of all provinces and centre, the reactive disclosure without the intervention of information commission was ensured only by the departments of Khyber Pakhtunkhwah (KP). Overall result of reactive disclosure by public bodies is bleak in Federal, Punjab, Sindh and Balochistan. (The details and stats are discussed ahead in the report).

Introduction:

Right to Information is a fundamental human right granted to the citizens of Pakistan under Article 19-A of the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan. Article 19-A states:

“Every Citizen shall have the right to have access to information in all matters of public importance subject to regulation and reasonable restrictions imposed by the law”

It is explicitly mentioned in the Article 19-A that right to information is not an absolute right. It means that there are some legitimate hindrance in access to information. Currently, five different right to information laws are enacted in Pakistan i.e Right of Access to Information Act, 2017 (Federal), Punjab Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2013, KP Right to Information Act, 2013, Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2016 and Balochistan Freedom of Information Act, 2005. All the mentioned RTI laws are enacted by the legislative bodies to protect citizen's fundamental right to know. Merely passing the laws is not enough, implementation remains an unaddressed question in the rooms of government.

CPDI has compiled this report to grasp the status of right to information in Pakistan. Primarily, to what extent government departments are proactively disclosing information and responding the information requests with the time period mentioned in the specific RTI law. To conduct this study, government departments were selected as a sample from each province and centre. The websites were examined to gauge the status of online proactive and information requests were sent to evaluate the status of reactive disclosure. However, a keen eye on the political and legislative development in RTI landscape was kept to analyse the measures taken by the government departments to implement RTI.

CPDI is a pioneer organization to launch such a comprehensive report on the status of RTI in Pakistan because we believe that right to information allows the citizens to achieve all rights. The results of this report will pave way and call for the better implementation of RTI in Pakistan in future.

All the websites examined in this report were last accessed on 10 September, 2019.

Methodology:

The status of online proactive disclosure and reactive disclosure is measured by using mixed research methods. Several tools like desk based research and content analysis were used to reach conclusions and marking the scales.

Section 1: Proactive Disclosure:

The online proactive disclosure (Federal, KP, Punjab, Sindh) of each province and federal was measured against the specific relevant clause/section as mentioned below:

Section 2: Reactive Disclosure

To conduct this study, a set of government departments are selected through random sampling from Federal, Punjab, KP, Sindh and Balochistan. A uniform set of ten (10) information requests are filed in each department under the relevant applicable RTI law. The set of information requests comprises of simple and complex RTI questions related to public interest with an aim to monitor the different responses by public body. Assessment is purely limited to the responses of public bodies without the intervention of Information Commissions/ Appellate forums. The responses/reactions of public bodies against each RTI request/case were gauged in basic two scales with the consideration of issues mentioned below in the table:

Legitimate Response	Illegitimate Response
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Information received• written refusal• transferred• referred• information not held	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• oral refusal• mute refusal• incomplete answer• unable to submit

Sample:

To check the status of online proactive disclosure of information, a sample of total forty nine (49) government departments were selected through the method of random sampling. Ten (10) departmental websites from KP, ten (10) departmental websites of Punjab ten (10) departmental websites of Sindh, and Nineteen (19) departments+ Ministries of Federal government of Pakistan were taken as a sample. Websites of forty nine (49) different federal and provincial government departments were examined during the course of study. (Status of Online proactive disclosure of government departments in Balochistan was not taken in to account, because Freedom of Information Act 2005 lacks the provision and relevant list of information).

To check the status of reactive disclosure by government departments, a sample of total fifty nine (59) federal and provincial government departments was selected through the method of random sampling. Ten (10) departments of KP provincial government, ten (10) departments of Provincial Government of Punjab, ten(10) departments of provincial government of Sindh, ten(10) departments of provincial government of Balochistan, and Nineteen (19) departments+ Ministries of Federal government of Pakistan were taken as a sample). A total of five hundred and thirty (527) information requests under RTI law were filed in all fifty nine government departments.

A uniform set of information requests filed in all the sampled departments under relevant RTI Law will be discussed ahead in the report. The results are compiled over the period of three months and ample time has been given to all the public bodies to respond the information request under RTI laws.

Scope of the Study

The scope of the study is limited to the sampled government departments and departmental websites. We have gauged the status of (a) online proactive and (b) reactive disclosure of information by the government departments. This study does not take the stock of information released by the departments through other means like annual reports, publishing in newspaper, advertisement in media and notice boards etc. There is every possibility that this study assign minimum points for disclosure of certain information on website but that information might have already been released to public through other means. The reactive disclosure is measured by filing a multitude of information requests in provincial and government departments. The process was confined to the filing of information requests and responses of public bodies only, without the intervention of appellate forums/information commissions.

SECTION 1: Status of Online Proactive Disclosure of Information

Status of Online Proactive Disclosure of Information in Federal Ministries and Departments

To have a bigger picture about the status of proactive disclosure at Federal level we selected nineteen (19) Ministries and departments. While examining the websites, CPDI has observed that the law is neither brought in public domain nor is it well known among federal ministries and institutions. The government bodies are not cognizant of their legal responsibilities related to proactive disclosure of information. The common set of information which was not proactively disclosed by most of the ministries are related to budget and expenditures, perks and privileges of officers, decision making processes and investigation or inquiry reports. A summary is given below. For further details, see Annexure A.

Sr. No	Sample Department	Percentage of Information Available on Website as per section 5 of Right of Access to Information Act, 2017

Status of Online Proactive Disclosure of Information in Provincial Departments of Punjab

This report evaluates the selected websites of provincial departments of Punjab against the proactive disclosure clause of the Punjab Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2013. It was found that majority of websites maintained by public bodies are properly designed and easily accessible by internet users. However, there is a significant gap between the requirements of the Section 4 of the act and what has been actually disclosed on the websites. We noticed a positive trend where some departments have started to proactively disclose their budget estimates and expenditures; although in some cases the figures were not updated. This is a leap forward for fiscal transparency. However, such practices need to be adopted permanently by all departments so that a culture of transparency is created in public departments. On the other hand, some departments have created a separate section of RTI on their websites, but there is hardly any department which has shown complete compliance to section 4 of the said law. One common omission is the disclosure of remuneration, perks and privilege of the public officials which is a mandatory requirement under Section 4(g). A summary of is given below. For further details please see Annexure B

Sr. No	Sample Department	Percentage of Information Available on Website as per section 4 of Punjab Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2013
1	Excise, Taxation and Narcotics Control	59%
2	Agriculture Department	50%
3	Human Rights and Minorities	43%
4	Higher Education Department	41%
5	Health Department	40%
6	Information and Culture Department	36%
7	Punjab Food Department	35%
8	Chief Minister Inspection Team	35%
9	Communication and Works Department	28%
10	Board of Revenue	12%
	Average	38%

Status of Online Proactive Disclosure in Provincial Departments of KP

This section evaluates the online presence of selected provincial departments of the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province against the proactive disclosure clause of the KP Right to Information Act, 2013. It was found that despite of having dedicated RTI Sections on the portal and websites, many departments have not followed the section (5) of KP Right Act 2013 in its true letter and spirit. It is based on the fact that the data provided under the RTI sections is either incomplete or irrelevant. The common omissions are the, list of categories of information held by department, latest budget estimates and expenditure, perks and privileges lived up by employees / officers and decision making processes are least disclosed on the web. On the other hand, the report shows positive trends where most of the departments have designated Public information officers and contact details are also shared. But there is a lot more required to fully comply with the section 5 of KP RTI Act. Some departments like Agriculture department has also shared a detailed account of number of RTI requests received and processed by the department. Such practice enhances the confidence of a common man on responsiveness of the public body. The summary is given below. For details please see Annexure C

Sr. No	Sample Department	Percentage of Information Available on Website as per section 5 of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Right to Information Act, 2013
1	Information and Public Relations Department	88%
2	Finance Department	66%
3	Food Department	65%
4	Establishment Department	56%
5	Transport Department	55%
6	Revenue Department	50%
7	Population Welfare Department	45%
8	Home and Tribal Affairs	43%
9	Industries Department	35%
10	Mineral Department	21%
	Average	52%

Status of Online Proactive Disclosure in Provincial Departments of Sindh

This report evaluates the online presence of provincial departments of Sindh against the proactive disclosure clause of the Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2016 (Section 6). It was found that majority of the provincial departments have independent websites but the available information is in such a small amount that the purpose of establishing a website becomes questionable. This meager situation is due to the lack of awareness about the Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2016. The said law was enacted back in April 2017 but the implementation is still deferred. The law is neither brought in public domain nor is it well known among government departments. It was also observed that not even a single website had an 'RTI Section'. None of the websites have shared name and particulars of Public Information Officer and perks and privileges of its officers. In most of the cases, budget and expenditures of the departments was also not shared. In entirety, the state of online proactive disclosure of information in provincial departments of Sindh is worst and disappointingly low. The summary is given below. For details, please see Annexure D.

Sr. No	Sample Department	Percentage of Information Available on Website as per section 6 of Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2013
1	Forest and Wildlife Department	21%
2	Transport and Mass Transit	20%
3	Minorities Affairs Department	15%

Sr. No	Sample Department	Percentage of Information Available on Website as per section 6 of Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2013
4	Home Department	14%
5	Planning and Development Department	11%
6	Industries and Commerce	11%
7	Sindh Governor House	9%
8	College Education Department	7%
9	Chief Minister's Secretariat	7%
10	Irrigation Department	6%
	Average	12%

SECTION 2: Status of Reactive Disclosure of Information

Currently, two types of right to information laws are applicable in Pakistan. The first generation laws are progressive and more effective than the weak and toothless second generation RTI laws.

First generation RTI laws provide maximum opportunities to general masses to have access to information via proactive disclosure, overriding effect over other laws, free and easy processing of information requests, maximum scope of the law, short lists of exempted information, independent appellate forums, and penalties over non disclosure of information. The Second generation RTI laws are opposite to the good characteristics mentioned above. Pakistan has a spectrum of both good and bad RTI laws in Pakistan:

- First Generation law: Right of Access to Information Act, 2017
- First Generation law: Khyber Pakhtunkhwa RTI Act 2013
- First Generation law: Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2016
- First Generation law: Punjab Transparency and right to information Act, 2013,
- Second Generation law: Balochistan Freedom of Information Act, 2005

According to the above mentioned RTI laws, public bodies are duty bound to process the information requests submitted by the applicant/common citizens within a specific time period mentioned in the laws. As contrary to the proactive disclosure, processing of information requests which result in the disclosure of information to the public is called reactive disclosure of information.

To check the status of reactive disclosure of information, CPDI sent a uniform set of information requests to the selected set of provincial and federal departments in Pakistan by using all different RTI laws (mentioned above). We waited for the time of period of four months for the information requests to be fully processed by the government departments. As mentioned earlier in the initial sections of the report, this evaluation is just limited to the responses given by government departments without lodging complaint in the appellate forums.

Provincial level:

A uniform set of ten (10) information requests comprising of simple and complex RTI questions were sent to each department out of the total ten selected departments in each province under the relevant RTI laws. Ten departments are selected in each province through random sampling. Different information requests contained the following questions related to public interest:

- i. Provide a list of sanctioned staff in Head office of your department against pay scales i.e. 1 to 22.
- ii. Provide a list of vacant posts of sanctioned staff and dates since when positions have been lying vacant in Head office of your department?
- iii. Please provide certified copy of notifications or office order issued by Head office of your department regarding Austerity measures for FY 2018-2019.
- iv. What is annual approved budget (FY 2018-19), released budget (FY 2018-19) and total expenditure of your department till March 2019?
- v. Provide a complete list of sanctioned staff in Head office of your department with pay scales, monthly salary, allowances, perks and privileges and any other benefit of each position/pay scale.
- vi. What is the amount claimed from public exchequer as medical expense by each staff member in Head office of your department, from January 1, 2018 to July 31, 2018 and from August 1, 2018 to March 31 2019?
- vii. Please provide a complete list of tenders advertised by Head office of your department in national and local print media from January 1, 2019 to May 31, 2019. Please also provide a complete list of applications along with total bid amount from each applicant. Please also indicate the applicant who was finally awarded the contract. A copy of printed advertisement (s) is also requested.
- viii. What is the total amount of funds utilized on the advertisements of all types (public service message, awareness campaign, jobs, tenders etc.) in print and electronic media by Head office of your department, from January 1, 2018 to July 31, 2018 and from August 1, 2018 to March 31 2019?
- ix. Please provide a date wise list of entertainment bills and petty cash expenditure in Head office of your department from January 1, 2019 to May 31, 2019. Please also provide vendor receipts against each expense.
- x. Is the entrance and internal pathways in building of your Head office/Secretariat of your department accessible for wheel chair users? What are the steps taken by your department to make it accessible for wheel users and persons with disabilities? "

Punjab:

In the province of Punjab, ten (10) departments were selected through random sampling. Ten (10) information requests (as discussed above) under Punjab Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2013 were sent to each department. This makes a total of hundred (100) information requests submitted in the province of Punjab for the purpose of compiling this report. Following departments were selected through random sampling:

1. Excise, Taxation and Narcotics Control
2. Agriculture Department
3. Human Rights and Minorities
4. Higher Education Department
5. Health Department
6. Information and Culture Department
7. Punjab Food Department
8. Chief Minister Inspection Team
9. Communication and Works Department
10. Board of Revenue

Total No. of information requests sent in the province of Punjab	Total number of Responses received from departments	Information Received by the departments
100 (10 to each department)	12	2

The results and responses could have been better after the intervention of Punjab Information Commission but the evaluation was merely about the reactive disclosure by the government departments. This shows that the government department does not take the information requests serious, until and unless the law enforcement agency i.e Punjab Information Commission intervene after the complaint of applicant.

The table mentioned above presents a summary of total statistics, for detailed results please see Annexure B1

Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (KP):

In the province of KP, ten (10) departments were selected through random sampling. Ten (10) information requests (as discussed above) under Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Right to Information Act, 2013 were sent to each department. This makes a total of hundred (100) information requests submitted in the province of KP, for the purpose of compiling this report. Following departments were selected through random sampling:

1. Information and Public Relations Department
2. Finance Department
3. Food Department
4. Establishment Department
5. Transport Department
6. Revenue Department
7. Population Welfare Department
8. Home and Tribal Affairs
9. Industries Department
10. Mineral Department

Total No. of information requests sent in the province of Punjab	Total number of Responses received from departments	Information Received by the departments
100 (10 to each department)	45	18

The responses received from the selected departments of KP government are higher than responses received from Punjab. This shows that the government departments in KP are more aware and responsible in handling information requests submitted by the citizens. The results could have been better after the intervention of KP RTI Commission but this report evaluates the reactive disclosure by the departments only.

The above table provides a summary of overall process, for details please see Annexure C1

Sindh

In the province of Sindh, ten (10) departments were selected through random sampling. Ten (10) information requests (as discussed above) under Sindh Transparency and Right to Information Act, 2016 were sent to each department. This makes a total of hundred (100) information requests submitted in the province of Sindh as well, for the purpose of compiling this report. Following departments were selected through random sampling:

1. Forest and Wildlife Department
2. Transport and Mass Transit
3. Minorities Affairs Department
4. Home Department
5. Planning and Development Department
6. Industries and Commerce
7. Sindh Governor House
8. College Education Department
9. Chief Minister's Secretariat
10. Irrigation Department

Total No. of information requests sent in the province of Punjab	Total number of Responses received from departments (refusal, refer, transferred etc.)	Information Received by the departments
100 (10 to each department)	0	0

It was of no surprise to CPDI team that none of the information requests out of 100 were responded by the provincial departments of Sindh. This shows the level of implementation of RTI act in Sindh.

The above table provides a summary of overall process, for details please see Annexure D1

Balochistan

In the province of Balochistan, ten (10) departments were selected through random sampling. Ten (10) information requests (as discussed above) under Balochistan Freedom of Information Act, 2005 were sent to each department. This makes a total of hundred (100) information requests submitted in the province of Balochistan as well, for the purpose of compiling this report. Following departments were selected through random sampling:

1. Department Sports and Youth Affairs
2. Chief Minister Inspection Team
3. Fisheries Department
4. Department of Industries and Commerce
5. Department of Science and Information Technology
6. Forest and Wildlife Department
7. Law and Parliamentary Affairs

8. Board of Revenue
9. Provincial Disaster Management
10. Population Welfare Department

Total No. of information requests sent in the province of Punjab	Total number of Responses received from departments (refusal, refer, transferred etc.)	Information Received by the departments
100 (10 to each department)	0	0

CPDI team completed the whole process of submitting information requests i.e submitted the fee, provided the reason of acquiring information, kept on waiting for almost four months but there was constant mute refusal from the departments. It is a fact that there are several weaknesses in the law which hinders public access to information but the basic implementation requires willingness of the government departments to provide the requested date. This mute refusal is actually level of implementation of right to information in Balochistan.

The above table provides a summary of overall process, for details please see Annexure E

2. Federal:

At federal level, nineteen (19) ministries and departments were selected through random sampling. Several information requests under Right of Access to Information Act, 2017 were sent to each public body. This makes a total of hundred (127) information requests submitted at the Federal level, for the purpose of compiling this report. Right of Access to Information Act, 2017 is a progressive law as compare to the repealed Freedom of Information Ordinance 2002. But implementation still remains a big question at federal level in Pakistan. In few cases, where we received responses from the federal body, some information requests were declined due to the power granted to the Minister In-charge for declaring any record as classified under the section 7(f) of right of access to information act, 2017. The section 7 of RAI Act, 2017 (Exclusion of certain records) is one of the weaknesses of Right of Access to Information Act, 2017.

The above table provides a summary of overall process, for details please see Annexure A1

Conclusion:

The report on the Status of RTI in Pakistan concludes with the moderate status of proactive disclosure and below average status of reactive disclosure in Pakistan. On the scale of proactive disclosure of information, KP government departments are at the top with 52% of proactive disclosure of information, Punjab government departments are at the 2nd place with 38%, and Federal government is at the third place with 25% and only 12% of information is proactively disclosed by the government departments of Sindh as per the RTI law. At CPDI, we believe that right to information regime is basically based upon the proactive disclosure of information by government. As right to information culture slowly taking roots in Pakistan, one major observation comes from public officials is that information requests take too much of their time and they have little time left to focus on other business. The proactive disclosure is the answer to this objection. The more a department is proactive, the lesser information requests will it receive and subsequently has to spent lesser time respond to information requests. The federal and provincial governments of Pakistan shall take stringent efforts to ensure proactive disclosure of information, as it is pre-requisite for better, transparent, open and accountable government.

One cannot deny the significance of independent appellate forums/oversight bodies and its power to implement the RTI law, but the first and foremost responsibility of information disclosure is on the shoulders of government departments/officers who receive information requests from common citizens. So there is a need to build capacity of government officers to bring RTI in the domain of standard operating procedure in the government departments. While processing 527 information requests for the purpose of compiling this report, 71 responses were received overall. CPDI team reached to a conclusion that there is a significant lack of culture of responsiveness in the provincial and government departments of Pakistan. The ratio of responses received was minimal (As discussed in the above sections and attached Annexure). With this ratio of responsiveness (13% only), information disclosure without the intervention of appellate forum becomes impossible. In this ground KP has shown some better results as compare to Punjab, Sindh, Balochistan and Federal.

Overall status of Right to Information in Pakistan is not satisfactory. Efforts are required from the demand and supply side both. The betterment can be brought by effective measures by the central government, provincial government and government departments. The objective of empowering people, containing corruption, and bringing transparency and accountability in the working of the Government can only be achieved by implementing right to information in full letter and spirit.
